The Long Ago.

Oh! a wonderful stream is the river Time, As it runs through the realms of fears, With a faultiess rhythm and a musical chime, And a broader aweep, and a surge subline, And blends with the ocean of years.

How the winters are drifting like flakes of snow, And the summers like buils between,
And the year in the sheaf—so they come and they go, On the river's breast, with its able and its flow, As it glides in the shodow and sheen,

There is a magical Isle up the river Time Where the softest of airs are playing : There's a ciundies sky and a tropical clime. And a sung as sweet as a vesper chime, And the Junes with the roses are staying

And the name of this list is the Long Ago, There are brown of beauty and bosoms of enow-There are beaps of dust, but we loved them so! There are trinkets and treases of hair.

There are fragments of song that nobody sings, And a part of an infant's prayer; There's a liste unewest, and a harp without strings, There are broken vows, and pieces of rings, And garments she used to wear.

There are hands that are waved when the fairy shore By the mirage is lifted in air; And we sometimes hear, through the turbulent rour, Sweet voices we heard in days gone before, When the wind down the river is fulr.

Oh, remembered for aye be the blessed tale. All the day of life till might-When the evening comes with its beautiful smile, And our eyes are closing to slumber awhile, May that 'greenwood' of soul be in sight.

Sydney Smith once fell into an argument concerning the comparative stature and amount of brains among the men of his day. "Why," said he, "you would never suspect our friend Jeffrey of knowing much, and as for-, he has not body enough to cover his mind decently with; his intellect is improperly exposed."

James the Pirst of England and Sixth of Scotland was, as every one knows, not remarkable for vigor and steadiness. Having heard of a famous preacher who was very witty in his sermons, and peculiarly so in his choice of texts, he ordered this clergyman | H. DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

THE PUBLIC ARE CAUTIONED AGAINST the unfounded statements frequently made, "that the composition of CHLRODYNE is known to Chemiste and the Medical profession." The fact is, Chlorodyne was discovered and invented by Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE (ex Army Medical Staff), and so named by him, and it has baffled all attempts at analysis by the first Chemists of the day. The method and secret of the preparation have never been published. It is obvious, therefore, that anything sold under the name, save Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE, is a spurious imitation.

OAUTION.—Vice. Chanceller Sir W. P. Weed stated that Dr. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Calurodyne.
